

OREGON RACEWAY PARK

UPDATE / LATE JULY 2014

PAGE 1 of 3

Right: August starts off with some great events. John Sullivan and STAR Projects team up to present a Saturday kart practice on the 2nd prior to Portland Karting Association's race on the 3rd. Monday and Tuesday Don Kitch returns with his ProFormance track day program. Reg Pridmoer's Class Rides one of the most respected motorcycle schools in the country, takes to the track the following Saturday and Sunday.

Work continues day & night on the fire suppression and fresh water systems. All part of the less than glamorous side of race track construction, this investment is pivotal to the construction of restrooms, shower facilities and future build outs.

Right: Our Office Manager Brenda Piki: The face on the other side of the cheery "Thank you for calling Oregon Raceway Park, this is Brenda, how can I help you?"

OREGON RACEWAY PARK

UPDATE / LATE JULY 2014

PAGE 2 of 3

Under the flood lights the landscape takes on the surreal look of a sci-fi movie set.

“Huston the Eagle has landed and you wouldn’t believe what they are building up here”!

Right: Use the pickup as a familiar object to gauge the depth of the excavation for main sewer line.

OREGON RACEWAY PARK

UPDATE / LATE JULY 2014

PAGE 3 of 3

O.R.P. always sees some of the N.W.'s really nice equipment. This piece of mechanical artwork was one of three very well prepared karts brought out for private track days on the 30th & 31st.

John Woodrich and O.R.P.
– C.E.O. Tom Miller.

Its' in the details.....